THIRTY DAY WEATHER OUTLOOK — This is the way the weather shapes up in terms of temperatures and precipitation for the next thirty days according to the National Weather Service in Washington. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Heavy Floods Swamp South, Central U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flood conditions worsened today along the rain-swollen Mississippi River and in the South, where torrential rains accompanied by tornadoes battered portions of two states during the weekend.

Snow was still piling up in the Southwest, and strong winds whipped sandstorms in southwestern areas not hit by the snow.

Heavy snow warnings were posted for the mountains of southwest and central Colorado, central and western Arizona and New Mexico. More than a foot of new snow fell Sunday in Utah.

Rain fell west of the Rockies and in southern Florida.

Flash flood watches were posted for portions of southern New England, where a weekend thunderstorm dumped up to 3½ inches of rain.

Fair weather prevailed from the mid-Atlantic coast west to the southern Plains and over most of California.

In Alton, Ill., the Mississippi swirled through downtown streets. Spokesmen for the Army Corps of Engineers expressed fear Sunday night that levees, soaked to the core, might give way as waters rise on the Mississippi, Missouri and Meramec rivers.

The cleanup from Saturday night's tornadoes was going on beside flood preparation today in portions of Georgia and South Carolina. The twisters, which struck before National Weather Service radar could spot them, inflicted severe property damage and claimed at least eight lives.

Govs. John West of South Carolina and Jimmy Carter of Georgia surveyed the damage by air Sunday. Both said they would seek federal disaster funds. In Georgia, an estimated 5,000 persons were left homeless by the storm.

The Pee Dee River at Cheraw, S.C., was expected to reach a crest of 15 feet above bank level early today, and the Rocky River at Norwood, S.C., was 23 feet above flood stage Sunday.

See Stabilized Federal Park System

WASHINGTON (AP) — After a century of expansion, it may be time to begin "stabilizing" the National Park System, says its new director, Ronald Walker.

The Park Service may eventually acquire selected new areas to "round out" its holdings, Walker said, but at present he is putting more emphasis on improving parks already within the system.

The difficult task of creating and improving parks in and near large population centers of the east, where the National Park Service now has relatively little land, should be pursued mainly by state and local governments, Walker said.

He said the National Park Service would help with advice and counseling. Walker outlined his views in his first interview since taking office two months ago.

A former presidential advance-man with no previous experience in park management, Walker said he was still learning about the park service and its problems.

Walker expressed admiration for the expertise gained by his predecessor, George L. Hartzog Jr., who has worked in the Interior Department for 26 years and headed the National Park Service for nine years before President Nixon assigned Walker to replace him.

He said he planned to continue and expand some of the programs started experimentally by Hartzog, to cope with increasingly heavy pressures on the parks from a growing population.

But Walker said it was time to "take a step back now and see where we're going."

He said the master plans prepared years ago for the existing national parks were all being reviewed to update them.

Here are highlights of the interview with Walker:

Meat Boycott Begins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spaghetti, macaroni, chicken and seafood topped the Sunday dinner menus for thousands of Americans on the opening day of a week-long meat boycott protesting high prices.

Most meat markets were closed on Sunday, so it was hard to judge whether housewives were crossing beef, lamb and pork off their shopping lists.

President Nixon announced last Thursday night that a ceiling on the price of all beef, pork, and lamb was to go into effect today. But leaders of consumer groups said the boycott would be held anyway because the ceiling would not be effective.

Although some New York restaurants reported patrons asking for more meatless dishes than usual, a spot check of restaurants in the Chicago area showed most restaurants doing a booming business.

"Right now we've got a waiting line of 20 minutes, and I've seen a lot of steaks going by," said Frieda Marianos, service manager at a Chicago restaurant where the best steak costs $7.50.

A random sampling of Detroit area supermarkets showed customers in large numbers were avoiding meat counters.

"We've been selling chicken, that's all," said Cheri Killingsworth, a meat clerk at a Detroit food store. An assistant manager at another chain store agreed that it was "really bad."

Joining the ranks of meat boycotters in Michigan was the Rainbow People's party, formerly known as the White Panther party. A party spokesman explained, "Meat prices are criminal, and we're in favor of all political action like this."

ROUNDTOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Myers, 229 E. High St., and Lester Hashman reported finding 223 small, white sponge mushrooms Sunday.

They said the mushrooms, taken in an hour's time, were found in Ross County.

THE prime topic of conversation in Circleville the last few days is not the high price of meat but the high price of the city sewer.

One owner of a three family rental unit reported the annual sewer bill before had been $28.80. He received his first bill based on the new volume-use rate and now projects an annual bill of $418. On a 12-apartment unit he was paying $124.80 annually and will now pay an annual rate of $448.

One home owner reported his bill was up 10 times what he had been paying previously.

In trying to clarify the reason for the sewage bill increase, public utilities manager Charles Taylor noted estimated revenue from the new rates will be $370,000 annually. Cost of operation and maintenance of the new plant plus the cost of paying off the loan and interest is $357,000. For the past several years the sewage department has been operating in the red at about $20,000 per year. Cost of operation of the present plant is $98,000 while the old method of billing brought in less than $78,000. The balance has been picked up by the water department.

For those people concerned about watering lawns, an adjustment will be made to allow for this, Taylor said. But if the water pipes freeze and burst while you're in Florida for the winter, be prepared to pay a big sewage bill. This is the first increase since 1956.

Dolly Cole, wife of the president of General Motors, said her family wasn't boycotting meat. She added, "But I really don't think we have steak more than once every two weeks or so."

Mrs. Cole said she cut up a leftover rump roast to make hash for Sunday dinner. She said, "We like hash."

In Waterville, Maine, Pat Gorman served her family of nine a macaroni loaf made with cheese, macaroni, tuna fish, evaporated milk, onions, eggs and pimientos. Mrs. Gorman, who helped organize the Maine boycott, said, "My husband likes spicier foods, but the kids loved it."

She said that she has received about 200 telephone calls from women throughout the state who wanted to organize a meatless protest in their areas.

A housewife passing out meatless recipes at a Columbia, Mo., food store Saturday was upstaged by a group of 16 cattlemen who bought the store out of meat and then gave it away to surprised customers.

"We wanted people to see what it would be like to go into a store and not be able to buy meat because it wasn't there," said Jim Marshall, a spokesman for the cattlemen.

Mrs. Marilyn Johnson, the housewife, said shoppers were taking her recipes for salmon souffle, chopstick tuna, rosy cheese fondue and other meatless dishes until the ranchers started handing out free meat.

"I kept telling the customers that free meat is nice, but that it won't be free next week," she said.

Ohio Food Store Operators Take 'Wait And See Attitude'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The meat boycott is on nationwide and food store operators in Ohio are standing back, waiting to see what happens as family shoppers choose menus from non-meat sources.

The boycott is being used in an attempt to force meat prices down, but store managers for the most part in Ohio say they'll be going ahead with regular meat advertising.

Jim Flay, manager of Liberal Food Market in the Cincinnati suburb of Price Hill said he would be monitoring meat sales.

"I'm concerned about it, let's put it like that," said Ed Burns, Columbus area food chain manager.

Leaders of the boycott said they would continue to select poultry and fish over meat despite President Nixon's price ceiling on beef, pork and lamb, imposed last week.

Mrs. Cynthia Parker, a member of a Columbus "Fight Inflation Together" group said she planned to serve "a lot of fish and processed meats" to her family this week.

"I think 99 per cent of the women are supporting the boycott either actively or in their own homes," she said. She also said the Columbus group plans to hold an "After the Boycott" meeting April 10 to give housewives a chance to meet with farmers, meat packers and retailers to discuss the effects of the boycott.

Mrs. Dreama Thomas of Grove City said she did not buy any fresh meat for her four-member family when she did her shopping for this week. And she said she spent only $37 on food, compared with the $60 spent the previous week.

In Dayton, two housewives in FOOD (Families to Overcome Outrageous Demands) said they would be distributing leaflets at local food stores urging shoppers to buy meat substitutes.

The president of the Columbus Building Trades Council, John Scales, said his members support the boycott, which he said was aimed at large corporations that are "much more able to maintain price controls in food than the little farmer, who historically has been in a poor position in American society in purchasing power."

"We are not," he contended, "chastising the farmer."

Food Prices High In Other Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sirloin steak out of sight these days? It's rough all over, according to U.S. emissaries who checked supermarket prices in Bonn, London, Tokyo, Rome and other foreign capitals.

Beef roasts sold for $2.08 per pound in the West German capital in mid-March, about the same as in Washington.

And if misery truly loves company Japan's finest—Kobe beef—was selling to a limited clientele in Tokyo for $17.40 per pound.

The foreign meat prices were reported today by the Agriculture Department in its weekly publication, "Foreign Agriculture." Officials said spot checks were made of prices in 11 cities by U.S. agricultural attaches.

T-bone steak was reported at 85 cents per pound in Brasilia and veal cutlets at 67 cents. In Washington, the report said, sirloin was $1.69 and veal $2.29.

Parisian shoppers saw top round of beef at $2.57 per pound and veal escalope at $3.20, the report said. In Stockholm, porterhouse steak was $3.81 per pound and veal cutlets $2.82.

Sirloin in London stores was $1.88 per pound, with rump steak going for $2.25 to disgruntled housewives where rising food prices have fed labor union strife.

Bacon, currently about $1.19 per pound here, was bringing 96 cents in Brussels. Pork loin in Washington was $1.29 and in Tokyo it was $2.25.

Brazil had the lowest price for lamb chops, 58 cents per pound, compared with $2.19 here, $2 in Rome, $2.49 in Brussels, and $1.98 in Stockholm.

Poultry as an alternative? Broiler chicken, at 65 cents a pound in Washington, was priced at $1.67 in Tokyo; 48 cents in The Hague; $1 in Stockholm; 63 to 71 cents in Rome; 64 cents in Ottawa, where Canadians also paid $1.68 for sirloin steak, $1.32 for pork loin, and 99 cents for imported leg of lamb; and 62 cents in Bonn.

Accord Reached At Wounded Knee

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Provisional agreement that could lead to the end of the 34-day occupation of Wounded Knee has been reached by the federal government and activist Indians.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gen. Kent Frizzell, the government's chief negotiator, told a news conference Sunday that "a consensus" had been reached at that day's session on more than half of 10 Indian demands.

"Possibly two or three items remain to be negotiated today," he said. "I think the confrontation is very close to being settled. In my opinion, remarkable progress has been made."

The talks were to resume at 4 p.m. EST today.

Ramon Roubideaux, an attorney representing American Indian Movement (AIM) forces occupying the village, said the Indians were ready to leave the village and face legal charges as soon as agreement is reached on the 10 items.

AIM leaders presented the list of 10 demands to the Frizzell before Sunday's three-hour negotiating session was held in a tepee on the outskirts of the village. Neither Roubideaux nor Frizzell would discuss the contents of the package.

Frizzell said: "I'm not going to go into the individual items on the agenda because I frankly feel the negotiations are at a critical stage. I'd rather wait until some agreement is reached. We hope to resolve the remaining issues soon."

However, Frizzell did say some of the items involved not only the Justice Department, which he represents, but the Department of Interior, the Bureau of Indian Affairs and congressional actions.

During the negotiations Saturday, the government rejected Indian requests that food be allowed into the village and that federal roadblocks be eased.

Frizzell said 20 to 25 persons were spotted attempting to enter Wounded Knee between federal outposts Saturday night. The group scattered when challenged, and two persons were arrested, he said. A knapsack filled with ammunition was recovered, he added.

A cease-fire in effect since Tuesday has not been broken, and both sides say it will be continued.

Nixon Meets With Thieu In California

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon is expected to assure South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu of continued American aid when the two meet today at the Western White House.

Although U.S. officials often have briefed newsmen prior to such conferences, White House sources were reluctant to discuss topics for the meetings before Thieu's arrival.

However, observers expect discussion of Nixon's repeated warning that Communist violations of the cease-fire agreement could produce American military reprisals.

After arriving in a chartered Air Vietnam jetliner at Los Angeles International Airport on Sunday, Thieu's only comment to newsmen was: "I came to say thanks to the American people."

A communique is to be issued after the last of their four meetings on Tuesday, and few observers expect it to contain any substantive surprises. They think it will have pledges of solidarity, promises of U.S. aid to South Vietnam, vows of adherence to the cease-fire agreement and a statement that North Vietnam and the Viet Cong are expected to do the same.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued today the selling pattern it followed last Friday, and analysts attributed the decline to the same, old factors: concern over inflation and rising interest rates.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had dropped 4.44 points to 946.57. Declines held almost a 7 to 4 lead over advances in lackluster trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The broad-based NYSE index of some 1,400 common stocks was down .32 to 59.26 at noon.

The American Stock Exchange was lower, too, with the price-change index off .02 to 24.39 at midday.

Eldon A. Grimm of Walston & Co. said the Supreme Court's refusal today to overturn a lower court construction ban on the trans-Alaska pipeline "certainly didn't help" the market.

Alcatraz Set For Career As U.S. Park

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Alcatraz begins a new career today as a park.

The notorious former federal prison island in San Francisco Bay passed Sunday into the hands of the National Park Service. "The Rock" eventually will be open to public tours.

"People's impressions tend to change once they've been on the island," said Dave Ames, a superintendent in the new Golden Gate National Recreation Area. "They say it's fantastic, and they want to go back and roam all around and have a picnic lunch."

"The first thing we have to do now is get the island cleaned up," Ames said in an interview Sunday. That will cost only about $20,000.

Much of the historic prison, abandoned in 1963, is in ruins or littered with trash from the ravages of time and nature and a 19-month occupation by militant Indians who were removed by federal marshals in July, 1971.

Already planned is a tour of the old main cellblock, and then a sweeping view of the San Francisco skyline and Marin County hills.

Alcatraz is part of a new national recreation area including shorelands at both ends of the Golden Gate bridge. The Park Service assumed control from the General Services Administration, responsible for the 22-acre island after the prison closed.

ITT Chairman Testifies

WASHINGTON (AP) — ITT board chairman Harold S. Geneen testifies today before a Senate subcommittee trying to find out why the company attempted to channel $1 million through the U.S. government into Chile in 1970.

The Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on multinational corporations has received conflicting accounts about the purpose of the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. offer during the campaign of Chilean President Salvador Allende.

John A. McCone, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency and now an ITT director, testified March 21 that Geneen sent him to Washington in September 1970 to inform high government officials that ITT was ready to contribute up to $1 million "in support of any government plan for the purpose of bringing about a coalition of opposition to Allende."

But Edward J. Gerrity, ITT senior vice president, testified March 22 that Geneen told him the $1 million was intended as "seed money" if the government wanted to gather together a number of companies to finance low cost housing or a farming program for Chile.

William V. Broe, a CIA agent then in charge of Latin American clandestine operations, said Geneen told him in July 1970 he was willing to assemble a substantial political fund to support the presidential candidacy of Jorge E. Alessandri, one of Allende's opponents in the general election Sept. 4, 1970.

POW Lambasts Protesters For Keeping Viet War Going

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Army S. Sgt. William S. Baird, who spent almost five years as a prisoner-of-war in North Vietnam, says antiwar demonstrations kept POWs from returning home sooner.

Baird, 23, said Saturday that if antiwar protestors 'hadn't raised so much hell and made so many demonstrations, we'd have been home earlier."

"I think the Vietnam War was justified," said Baird. "We were sent there to do a job and did it. If I had to do it again, I would."

Baird, who is partially paralyzed in his lower legs and has internal injuries, returned home Saturday for a welcoming parade. He is on 10 days leave from Valley Forge General Hospital in Phoenixville, Pa.

Baird said his injuries stemmed from gunshot wounds inflicted at the time of his capture. He said the injuries robbed him of bladder and bowel control.

Army Spec. 5 Steve Sutton, who drove Baird home, refused to let the Wooster native answer questions related to prisoner torture, amnesty and U.S. aid to North Vietnam.

However, Baird did tell reporters that he was "shot when I was captured and ... handcuffed to a bed for four or five days."

"They thought I wasn't telling the truth," said Baird, "and they pointed a pistol at me several times because I refused to listen to propaganda and I refused to get off my bed."

"I received very little medical treatment from the Communists," said Baird. "They saved my life, but what little they did was very poor."

Baird was released March 5, after 4 years and 10 months as a prisoner.

He said the POWs heard "anything that had to do with people against the war."

"We heard the Communist side of it. I did not believe it, but there was nothing else to read," Baird said.

Highway Accident Causes No Injury

No one was injured in a two-vehicle crash at 12:58 p.m. Sunday at Route 23 and Circleville-Tarleton Road.

Involved in the crash were 81-year-old Mabel H. Towers, 321 E. Union St., and Roy A. Adkins, 50, of Pontiac, Mich.

Ptl. Vic Ralston noted Mrs. Towers was stopped in the crossover waiting to enter northbound traffic on Route 23 and pulled into the side of Adkins' car, which she apparently did not see pulling from a service station lot.

Canadian senators are required to retire at age 75.

Baird said nearly all the prisoners with him "were originally listed as missing in action."

"But I don't think there are any more there," he said "I think everyone's out now."

It deserves emphasis that the time, the place, the character of the funeral service, the merchandise used, the cemetery selected — these are decisions of the family of the deceased. The funeral director acts only as a representative of the family.

Seek Action On Lake Erie Erosion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Several legislators from northern Ohio — aroused by the marauding waves and winds off Lake Erie— are pushing the state action to fight shore erosion this year. In a series of bills and resolutions, they propose a variety of solutions ranging from state acquisition of lands already damaged to making property owners eligible for federal flood insurance.

Strict zoning regulations with criminal penalties also are being proposed to assure proper land management and conservation.

Hearings could last throughout much of the 1973 legislative session, sponsors said.

Rep. James Mueller, D-74 Chesterland, sponsored two of the measures along with a broader proposal which would seek to protect flood plains throughout the state based on flood patterns in Ohio in the past 100 years.

Rep. Donald J. Pease, D-54 Oberlin, has introduced a broad proposal to protect flood plains along Lake Erie and to make property owners eligible for federal flood insurance.

Freshman Rep. John T. McCormack, D-18 Euclid, presented a House resolution in which Ohio would ask President Nixon to enter into negotiations with Canada for joint efforts to clean up and protect the lake.

One of Mueller's bills would create a

New Store Real Smash

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— The grand opening of a new suburban South Euclid drugstore included some unscheduled excitement a car that smashed into the front of the store.

The driver of the car told police she was pulling into a parking space in front of Friendly Discount Drugs Friday when her foot slipped from the brake onto the accelerator.

The car leaped over the curb, across a sidewalk and into the door, window and wall at the front of the store.

"This was really a grand opening," store Manager Manny Wolfe said later.

About eleven people were inside the store at the time, but no one was injured, police said.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Financier Bart Lytton once had an empire with assets of $750 million, and his personal wealth at one time was estimated at $15 million.

Lytton died in 1969, but his estate wasn't closed until Friday. The final accounting: insolvent.

Dear Abby:

Right To Die With Dignity

DEAR ABBY: I hear they are trying to pass a law making it legal to let people die just by discontinuing treatment. They say it will be used so old people who are incurably sick won't have to linger and suffer after all hope for recovery is gone.

The thought of this is frightening. WHO will decide who is old enough and sick enough?

If you know anything about "euthanasia" which in plain English means "mercy killing" please state your views.

CONCERNED IN MIAMI

DEAR CONCERNED: "Euthanasia" literally means "the good death," and I am all for it. I believe it is cruel and senseless to prolong life by artificial means when there is no hope for recovery.

The right to die with dignity should be everybody's right. The Euthanasia Education Council (whose meetings I have personally attended) in New York, has made available "A Living Will." It reads as follows:

"To My Family, My Physician, My Clergyman, My Lawyer if the time comes when I can no longer take part in decisions for my own future, let this statement stand as the testament of my wishes:

"If there is no reasonable expectation of my recovery from physical or mental or spiritual disability, I (name) request that I be allowed to die and not be kept alive by artificial means or heroic measures. Death is as much a reality as birth, growth, maturity and old age—it is the one certainty. I do not fear death as much as I fear the indignity or deterioration, dependence, and hopeless pain. I ask that drugs be mercifully administered to me for terminal suffering even if they hasten the moment of death.

"This request is made while I am in good health and spirits. Although this document is not legally binding, you who care for me will, I hope, feel morally bound to follow its mandates. I recognize it places a heavy burden on responsibility upon you, and it is with the intention of sharing that responsibility and of mitigating any feelings of guilt that this statement is made."

Sign document in the presence of witness, and give it to your family physician, attorney, and/or a member of your family. (Better yet, obtain three copies, and give each one a copy. I did.)

Section 15. (A) The general assembly shall enact no law except by bill, and no bill shall be passed without the concurrence of a majority of the members elected to each house. Bills may originate in either house, but may be altered, amended, or rejected in the other.

(B) The style of the laws of this state shall be, "Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio."

(C) Every bill shall be considered by each house on three different days, unless two-thirds of the members elected to the house in which it is pending suspend this requirement, and every individual consideration of a bill or action suspending the requirement shall be recorded in the journal of the respective house. No bill may be passed until the bill has been reproduced and distributed to members of the house in which it is pending and every amendment been made available upon a member's request.

(D) No bill shall contain more than one subject, which shall be clearly expressed in its title. No law shall be revived or amended unless the new act contains the entire act revived, or the section or sections amended, and the section or sections amended shall be repealed.

(E) Every bill which has passed both houses of the general assembly shall be signed by the presiding officer of each house to certify that the procedural requirements for passage have been met and shall be presented forthwith to the governor for his approval.

(F) Every joint resolution which has been adopted in both houses of the general assembly shall be signed by the presiding officer of each house to certify that the procedural requirements for adoption have been met and shall forthwith be filed with the secretary of state.

Section 16. If the governor approves an act, he shall sign it, it becomes law and he shall file it with the secretary of state. If he does not approve it, he shall return it with his objection in writing, to the house in which it originated, which shall enter the objections at large upon its journal, and may then reconsider the vote on its passage. If three-fifths of the members elected to the house of origin vote to repass the bill, it shall be sent, with the objections of the governor, to the other house, which may also reconsider the vote on its passage. If three-fifths of the members elected to the second house vote to repass it, it becomes law notwithstanding the objections of the governor, and the presiding officer of the second house shall file it with the secretary of state. In no case shall a bill be repassed by a smaller vote than is required by the constitution on its original passage. In all cases of reconsideration the vote of each house shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for and against the bill shall be entered upon the journal.

If a bill is not returned by the governor within ten days, Sundays excepted, after being presented to him, it becomes law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the general assembly by adjournment, prevents its return, in which case it becomes law unless, within ten days after such adjournment, it is filed by him, with his objections in writing, in the office of the secretary of state. The governor shall file with the secretary of state every bill not returned by him to the house of origin that becomes law without his signature.

The governor may disapprove any item or items in any bill making an appropriation of money and the item or items, so disapproved, shall be void, unless repassed in the manner prescribed by this section for the repassage of a bill.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL.
If adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment and schedule thereto shall take immediate effect, and existing sections 4, 6, 7, 9, 11, 14, and 16 of Article II, and sections 8, 15, 17, 18, 19, and 25 of Article II shall be repealed from such effective date.

A Page Of Opinion

Pilot Is The Captain

Airline pilots testifying at a hearing of a House subcommittee on hijackings were unanimous in contending that pilots — and only pilots — should have command of the situation involving in-flight hijackings. Several were critical of efforts by both local and federal law officers to abort hijackings from outside the plane.

William R. Haas, Southern Airways pilot whose jet was hijacked last Nov. 10 in a 28-hour ordeal which remains the most bizarre hijacking on record, said he still doesn't understand how he was able to take off and land his plane after all the tires had been shot out.

"I am an experienced pilot," Haas testified, "but to this day I am still astonished that the last leg of that frightening trip ended without loss of life."

The pilots have a valid point. Difficult thought it remains to know what to do while a hijacking is in progress, certainly no one knows the existing situation or the temperament of the hijackers better than the plane's crew.

As the pilot of the ship, the pilot is in charge in the cabin. Unless signaled by the pilot, rushing the plane or disabling it from the outside holds the extreme danger of turning a serious situation into a massacre.

Worst Type Of All

Smart drivers go on the defensive the moment they slip behind the wheel. They have found it pays because of the not-so-smart drivers who seem to undergo an ego expansion when they turn the key in the ignition.

But if it were only the thoughtless and careless motorist who was a menace to others on the highways, driving would be much less dangerous. There is another breed of driver who is the worst hazard of all, and one of the most difficult to detect in time because the chances he takes are deliberate.

He is the drunk driver, a habitual repeater with a high accident risk. He is also the illegal driver, driving on a suspended or revoked license.

And he is the chancy driver, certain he can pass on a bend before an oncoming car shows up.

These are not carless drivers. They are vicious ones — moving accidents looking for a place to happen. Luck will run out for any innocents who happen to be in the same place at the same time.

Needn't Be Blackmail

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Frankly, the only reason to give the North Vietnamese a nickel would be to bribe them to keep the peace. This is an admittedly ignoble reason, but it appeals to the practical streak in many Americans who have no love for Communists of any stripe.

There is Senator Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, for example. Strom, who is as much of an anti-Communist hardliner as any man in the Senate, says he is "essentially opposed to giving aid to North Vietnam." But he adds that "we must keep an open mind on the subject, based on practical considerations and the necessary safeguards." The "practical considerations" are that Hanoi, once it gets the money, will stay bribed and will not spend the funds on rebuilding its warring machinery.

Although I hate to say it, I find myself going along with Thurmond's rather schizoid position. The North Vietnamese don't deserve a cent; indeed, they ought to be compelled to give reparations to the South Vietnamese, the Laotians, and the Cambodians. But if a bribe will work, lives will be spared.

Some of my good friends in the American Conservative Union say they are "unalterably opposed to aid to North Vietnam." And they quote House Minority Leader Gerald Ford's 1965 statement that "friendship, security and solid international relations cannot be bought with dollars." M. Stanton Evans, the ACU chairman, in supporting the position of his organization, recalls the experience the ancient Saxons had when they raised the famous Danegeld tax to buy off the Danish despoilers of Britain's North Sea coast. The Danes took the money, but it didn't stop them from renewing the raids. It was Rudyard Kipling who wrote that "once you have paid him the Dane-Geld you never get rid of the Dane."

The Kipling line applies to almost all blackmail situations. But, like Senator Thurmond, I question the completeness of any analogy that would cast the North Vietnamese as modern collectors of a Danegeld. The Danes came back to ravish the British coast for the good and sufficient reason that the Saxons lacked the physical power to stop them. A "Danegeld" paid to Hanoi, however, would be designed to give the South Vietnamese, not involved in the bribe, time to strengthen their defenses, to learn how to operate a modern air force, and to contain any North Vietnamese encamped south of the demilitarized zone.

The bribe would be in the nature of a holding operation. If it didn't work, there would be nothing to keep the Nixon Administration from denouncing Hanoi and mining anew the port of Haiphong. If the ancient Saxons had had the equivalent of the B-52s, their Danegeld tax might have been a one-shot affair. It would have deprived Rudyard Kipling of a brave and ringing poetic line, but, given the requisite will on the part of the Saxons, it would have stopped raids on the North Sea shores.

When I say I am for offering Hanoi the bribe to keep the peace, I do so under one condition: I would, at the moment the money is delivered, give the Saigon government some bombing planes with sufficient range to reach the North Vietnamese dikes in the Red River delta. It would be thoroughly understood that if the North Vietnamese used the money to rebuild their war machine and started moving men and equipment over the Ho Chi Minh trail into South Vietnam, we would look the other way while Saigon drowned Hanoi's agricultural economy. With the South Vietnamese in a good position to stop the North Vietnamese General Giap by inundating his rear, the Danegeld analogy would break down completely.

All of this talk about bribing Hanoi to keep the peace will probably come to naught anyway. The North Vietnamese obviously do not intend to withdraw from Laos and Cambodia, and they will almost certainly continue to wage some form of warfare in the sections of South Vietnam they now occupy. With the war continuing, it is hardly likely that Hanoi will get a penny out of the U.S. Senate, and Senator Thurmond won't have to worry about the morality of his split position.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

The Tuesday edition of The Herald contains an article entitled "Random Auto Checks Paying Off." I have always been absolutely against "random" auto checks. My wife and I moved here from Cincinnati about sixteen years ago. In Cincinnati auto inspection, on a regular basis, is COMPULSORY. Although there are some who complain, the public is guaranteed that the citizens of Cincinnati (at least) are not driving vehicles which do not meet safety standards.

Whenever an OHP inspection team sets up in an area, word quickly travels around the community and some people (who know that their vehicles would not pass inspection) simply choose another route to go wherever they please - still driving their defective vehicles. Some of the seemingly "lucky" ones could possibly escape inspections forever. Also, "random" inspections can interfere with an individual's personal schedule of activities.

I advocate state-wide, nation-wide compulsory inspection of all vehicles on a regular basis, by appointment, if necessary. This would eliminate unsafe vehicles from our highways on a much more consistent basis. Furthermore I'm sure that the majority of drivers would be thankful to learn about any unsafe situation that exists on their auto and would be quick to respond to it's remedy with or without a 48 hour deadline.

Sincerely,
WILLIAM S. WILLIAMS

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

With all the talk and concentration on vitamins, I don't recall reading any definitive article on the dangers of too much vitamin intake.

I read the numbers on the labels, but they have no meaning to me. One of the things that confuses me is the use of the phrase "daily requirement" on labels. If the particular pill fills the certain vitamins, does that mean that food eaten containing that vitamin would be dangerously excessive?

Mrs. L.H., Maine

Dear Mrs. H.:

The emphasis, and sometimes overemphasis, on vitamins has introduced much confusion to many people.

One of the reasons for this confusion is that some manufacturers oversell their product by asking the consumer to compare the "numbers" on their label with that of another manufacturer.

It is understandable that "higher numbers" may seem to be more impressive than "lower numbers" even though the body may not require such a large quantity.

Fortunately, the wisdom of the body is such that it has its own protective devices against the excess use of some vitamins. That which is not needed is excreted through the urine.

Many physicians learn that some patients falsely reason about vitamins in the following way:

They believe that if one vitamin tablet is good, two are better, and three are best. Herein lies a real danger, especially to children.

A condition does exist called "hypervitaminosis," which is an illness caused by the excessive intake of vitamins, especially Vitamins A and D.

Overzealous vitamin enthusiasts frequently take many times the prescribed dose for the prevention of a deficiency which they may not even have had.

Most vitamins, unlike excessive doses of Vitamins A and D, are not toxic and are relatively safe even in large quantities.

Too much Vitamin D can cause severe toxic effects in adults and especially in infants.

Children and adults need about 400 USP units of Vitamin D for daily requirement. When a deficiency is known to exist, treatment demands between 500 USP and 1500 USP units a day.

A textbook could be filled with symptoms of illustrating the dangers of massive uncontrolled and senseless overuse of Vitamin D.

Vitamin A is the other vitamin that can cause multiple symptoms when taken in excess. The normal daily requirement for it are 5,000 USP units. When a deficiency is known to exist by the doctor, replacement treatment can go up to 50,000 USP units in adults, to control the condition.

The amount of vitamins in any food is not sufficient to cause hypervitaminosis in anyone taking vitamins in prescribed or reasonable amounts.

Anything unusual that happens reminds you of something like it but even more unusual that happened 25 years ago.

You wonder why younger men at the office waste time staring at themselves in the washroom mirror when they comb their hair. When you look in the mirror, you don't see anything worth a second glance.

Even before taking your blood pressure your doctor can predict it within three points.

The insurance company writes you a letter and tells you that your policy is paid up at last.

Now and then you get so mad at things in general that you sit down and write a long letter to your congressman asking him what the hell does the government think it is doing anyway.

Balloons Move Logs In Northwest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The best way to move big logs out of the woods is by balloon, says Faye H. Stewart of Eugene, Ore.

It's not only cheaper and faster but also ecologically much better, he feels. Stewart, a lumber executive, uses balloons 110 feet tall and 108 feet in diameter and says he's been transporting huge logs commercially for 10 years.

"Three years ago it reached the point where it was economical," he said Friday between conferences with legislators and government officials.

"We fly logs, from the point at which the tree is felled, down the slopes to where trucks wait on roads, and they never touch the ground," he added. "We pick up from one to seven or eight logs on each turn."

"This method leaves the ground undisturbed—there's no siltation or erosion—and it cuts roadbuilding costs by more than half. We used to use helicopters for the same purpose, but this method is only 25 per cent as costly."

Stewart says his balloons hold 500,000 cubic feet of helium and have a lifting capacity of 24,000 pounds. Each balloon is controlled through a winch to which it is tethered by rope cables. The winch moves up and down the slope on a narrow track, pulling the balloon back and forth, 500 feet overhead.

Nuclear Power Plant Work Behind, But Hopes Brightens

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nuclear power — hailed as the solution to the nation's energy problems in the 1970s and beyond, is falling far short of the goals set for it.

Costly delays in getting nuclear power plants into operation could contribute to some power shortages this summer and next winter, according to the Atomic Energy Commission.

But the AEC and the 10-year-old atomic power industry contend that nuclear power is going to be a major source of U.S. electricity, and in time to help offset especially critical energy pinches envisioned for the 1980s.

Still, the industry has only 29 nuclear plants in operation, compared with 46 forecast by the government two years ago. A total of 57 plants are under construction, but 90 per cent are at least a year behind schedule.

Causes of the delays range from technical difficulties and labor problems to stiffer licensing requirements and environmental issues, according to federal and industry officials.

The delays are serious enough to raise questions about the ability of government and industry to step up the pace of development, especially to help meet energy requirements in the next decade.

AEC and industry spokesmen concede the going has been rough in recent years and serious difficulties remain, but they say 1972 may have represented a turning point away from their problems.

Chief reason for their cautious optimism:

—Besides the plants now operating or under construction, 77 others already are contracted for, including a record 35 ordered in 1972. The 35 plants together would generate 42.5 million kilowatts, almost three times the present nuclear generating capacity which provides about four per cent of the nation's electricity.

The AEC says a similar amount of nuclear generating capacity is expected to be contracted for in 1973, adding that "the situation on construction slippages is viewed as temporary and continued strong growth of nuclear power additions is expected to occur."

—Industry commitments for the 77 plants now on order amount to about $50 billion in capital costs. For example, Commonwealth Edison Co. of Chicago, one of the nuclear industry leaders, has announced it will spend at the rate of $1 million a day for the next five years on construction, most of it nuclear.

But AEC and industry optimism must be weighed against the fact that currently it takes up to nine years from initial planning states for a nuclear plant go into operation.

Still, the AEC appears confident that such lead time can be shortened and the nation's nuclear power capacity will be nearly 10 times greater than present.

ation's nuclear power capacity will be nearly 10 times greater than present.

By mid-1980s, the AEC and the utilities industry say, nuclear power will contribute 34 per cent of the nation's electricity and by the turn of the century 60 per cent, with the help of so-called nuclear breeder reactors.

Big Wage Rebellion On Horizon?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has failed to win much labor support for extension of Phase 3 economic controls with his meat price lid, leaving open the possibility of a wage rebellion at this year's bargaining table.

AFL-CIO President George Meany insisted Friday that any new measures to curb the cost of living must be accompanied by controls on all farm products, rents and interest rates.

"The President's action does not go far enough," Meany said. "The damage has already been done."

And he again urged Congress to impose tighter controls as a condition of AFL-CIO support for extending the Economic Stabilization Act beyond its April 30 expiration.

Meany has an ally in Democrats on Capitol Hill who say they will push for a 60-day, across-the-board freeze on all prices and interest rates, and some rent rollbacks.

A number of labor leaders, including Meany, warned earlier that rapidly rising grocery prices would enlarge labor's appetite at the bargaining table. "If food prices aren't brought down, there is no way union members are going to let their unions settle for a wage increase that won't even pay for their increased food bill," Meany told the House Banking Committee on Wednesday.

Labor contracts involving 4.7 million workers in the auto, rubber, electrical, trucking and railroad industries expire this year, and the Nixon administration had been saying that its anti-inflation efforts would mean more moderate wage demands.

The AEC concedes it has had to lower slightly projections made a little more than a year ago for nuclear capacity in the early 1980s, but it said its forecasts are "still within the probable range suggested "in earlier predictions.

What are the chances of meeting these forecasts?

Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., chairman of the Joint Senate-House Atomic Committee, said in an interview that there's no guarantee that they will be realized. "So far previous projections haven't been correct."

Price added that "while there is not an urgent need for nuclear power right now, it has to begin to show up as a major source of electricity from the 1980s on or we're in desperate trouble."

Price said his committee asked the AEC some time ago "to tell us what they need in the way of legislation" to speed the licensing process. But the AEC has yet to come up with suggested legislation, he said.

The AEC says tough new environmental laws established in 1969 and protests by environmentalists have figured in some construction delays.

A review of the environmental compatibility of 100 plants in operation, under construction or planned played a prominent part in a hiatus of 17 months ending in May 1972 during which no major licensing actions were taken. Both the AEC and industry have charged some environmentalists with using unjustifiable delaying tactics.

But the commission indicates that most of the construction delays have been due to other reasons, including:

—Lack of standardization in plant design. On this score, L. Manning Muntzing, the AEC's director of regulation, says a factor "impeding the acceleration of licensing decisions has been the tendency for nuclear power plants to be built on a one-of-a-kind basis. Some new plants are larger and more complex than their predecessors, while others incorporate design changes which make them different without apparent advantage."

—Late delivery of equipment. This was one factor contributing to the delay of three plants of the Tennessee Valley Authority at Decatur, Ala.

—Labor problems, including strikes and low labor productivity. These were among contributing factors responsible for the delay of Consolidated Edison Company's big Indian Point 2 plant north of New York City.

—"Quality assurance difficulties," that is, problems arising from component equipment "not manufactured under specifications under which it was ordered." This, says the AEC, was among the problems besetting Duke Power Company's 841,000 kilowatt Oconee 2 plant at Seneca, S.C.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has urged the AEC to declare a moratorium on building all proposed nuclear power plants and those in the early construction stage "until all safety-related issues are resolved."

Nader and an organization called the "Union of Concerned Scientists" also recommended power cutbacks of up to 50 per cent at all 29 nuclear power plants now in operation.

Nader and the scientists' group declared "the danger of catastrophic nuclear power plant accidents is a public safety problem of the utmost urgency in the country today."

The AEC, in a draft of a proposed new report to Congress on the safety of nuclear reactors, says the chances are only about one in 100 billion each year of a truly major accident, one releasing 5 million curies of radioactivity. A curie is equivalent to the radiation released by one gram of radium.

Wish Comes True

ST. ETIENNE DE LUZON, Que. (AP) — After more than 100 years residents in this community have unexpectedly been granted their wish — water. Almost since the founding of the village in 1861, drinking water has been a constant problem. The recent discovery of a pure and almost inexhaustible spring has solved it.

A SURE SIGN OF SPRING - FRESH ASPARAGUS

There is no truer sign of Spring than the fresh asparagus that will be in plentiful supply from now through June. A pound of fresh asparagus will make 2-3 servings. To prepare, break, rather than cut, off the woody base, wash well in cold water. Trim off scales and wash again. Tie stalks in serving size bundles and stand upright in deep saucepan, (some women use a coffee pot). Pour in boiling water to a depth of 1 inch. Cook 15 minutes, or until crisply tender. Drain well and keep warm until serving time.

SAUCY ASPARAGUS - SPRINGTIME TREAT

2 lbs. Top Fresh Asparagus
1 cup Food Club Mayonnaise
1 tbsp. Lemon Juice
1 tsp. Leaf Basil, Crumbled
1/4 tsp. Freshly Ground Pepper
1 Medium Size Tomato, Peeled
And Pared
Cooked Bacon Crumbles And Snipped Parsley

Prepare asparagus as above. While asparagus cooks, combine mayonnaise, lemon juice, basil and pepper in a small saucepan. Heat slowly, stirring constantly, until mixture is very warm. Do not boil. Remove from heat and stir in chopped tomato. Spoon over asparagus spears. Top with crumbled bacon and snipped parsley. Serve immediately.

Clues Are Sought In Cincinnati Opposition To North Viet Aid Growing To Blast Fatal To 7; 15 Hurt

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Arson investigators today sifted through the debris of an explosion that killed seven and injured 15 Saturday night.

Asst. Fire Chief Robert Schinaman said Sunday night that the debris was being moved to a vacant lot for examination.

Officials said they hoped to learn what caused the gas leak that apparently triggered the blast.

Two crane shovels were removing the debris from three buildings and loading it into city trucks for the transfer. Workmen were also seeking a possible eighth body.

Five of the victims were believed to have been in a rear room at Clara and Al's Cafe at the time of the blast.

The explosion rocked the downtown area, spewing debris as much as a block away.

Mary Goode, who lived on the first floor, was on the telephone to the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co. to report the smell of natural gas at the time of the explosion.

Her husband, Jesse, who accompanied her to the tavern telephone, was killed when he stepped into the kitchen.

Bartender John W. Johnson, 42, and his friends, William Pagano, 71; Lawrence Stewart, 40; Francis Puckett, and Jack Froman, 39, also died in the blast.

Also killed was Pearl Martin, 72, who, according to Mrs. Goode, was a bedridden invalid.

"I don't know whether I was still holding the telephone or not," said Mrs. Goode, describing her rescue by firemen. They found her protected by floor joists in the basement.

She said she and her husband moved into the building four months ago and didn't know many of the people. Jesse worked as a presser for a dry cleaning company.

Mrs. Goode said both were asleep but were awakened by the smell of gas. He checked out their apartment and found nothing, so they went into the bar to report it.

"I called CG&E," she said, "and I told the woman and she transferred me to somebody else. Just after I finished talking... it happened."

She said she remembers nothing from then until she was found. "I didn't hear anything but me yelling," she recalled. She spent Sunday in a nearby motel.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposed U.S. aid to North Vietnam is being attacked anew as returned prisoners of war tell stories of torture and mistreatment at the hands of their captors.

The stories "convince me that not a cent of American aid money should be spent on rehabilitating a country that is apparently run by savages," said Rep. Joel T. Broyhill, R-Va.

He and Conservative Sen. James L. Buckley of New York issued statements Sunday about President

Nixon's plans to ask Congress for aid to North Vietnam as "an investment in peace."

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield also referred to the accounts by the former prisoners in saying that he had not changed his mind that the aid to Hanoi would help keep the peace.

"Even before this it looked difficult," the Montana Democrat said. He said he did not know what effect the stories will have on Congress.

Buckley issued a statement urging

President Nixon to "carefully reconsider any proposal for economic assistance to North Vietnam in light of the POW reports on treatment and prison conditions."

Over the past eight years, more than 16,000 fiber-glass reinforced plastic underground storage tanks have been installed for petroleum and fuel oil storage by 34 oil companies in 43 states, according to the Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp.

U.S. AIR FORCE "FAT BOY" DIET

Lose 20 Lbs. in 2 weeks!

That statement insults your intelligence. You didn't get fat overnight and you won't get slim overnight. Anybody that promises you otherwise is after your money. You want to lose weight not money. Right?

Thousands of men and women have lost weight with the "Fat Boy" diet. U.S. Air Force flight surgeons and dietitians recommend the "Fat Boy" diet. It is a no starvation diet an average person can easily follow at home, work, or while traveling. If fat diets were everything they claim (frankly they're not!), the Air Force would use them and not the "Fat Boy" diet. Common sense tells you the U.S. Air Force research facilities are superior to those of a mere fad diet promoter. Take advantage of their research — after all, your taxes paid for it.

"Fat Boy" diet money-back guarantees a loss of 5 lbs. per week. That is 20 lbs. in only 30 days — that's really a lot! Try lifting 20 lbs. sometime. If you are tired of carrying your extra weight, you owe it to yourself to try the "Fat Boy" diet.

Send only $2.00 ($2.25 for Rush Service) — cash is O.K. — to Raven International, P.O. Box 3773, Dept. FB, Santa Barbara, California 93105.

Congressman Harsha's Washington Report

Recently, the details of the Administration's special revenue sharing proposals for elementary education were revealed to the House Education and Labor Committee. The legislation received a rather cool reception — to say the least — from both Republicans and Democrats alike on the Committee. It is very unlikely, therefore, that the Committee would report these proposals favorably to the House for passage. On the other hand, it is also unlikely that the Administration would be very willing to consider extending the present educational aid programs if the revenue sharing proposals are not passed or until a compromise agreement can be reached.

This deadlock is a very serious matter and poses a very real dilemma for the 19,000 public school districts in America. Current Federal programs for aid to education will expire at the end of this fiscal year (that is, on June 30th). Unless some sort of legislation is agreed upon, these districts could face the prospect of beginning the new school year in the fall without Federal aid. For many of the poorer areas, this would be nearly impossible. Consequently, I do believe that — in the event of a stalemate — some sort of continuing resolution would be enacted to prevent this.

The $2.7 billion Administration proposal would convert the 30 categorical grant-in-aid programs into five block grants to assist: disadvantaged children; the handicapped; vocational training; Federal employee impact areas; and support services such as textbook purchases and school lunch programs. Two programs — library services and strengthening state departments of education — would be eliminated.

Of these, the proposal to alter the formula payment of money to states for improving the education of low income or disadvantaged children has attracted the most controversy. First, it would supplant the popular Title I program now funded through the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. For fiscal 74, states would receive at least 100 per cent of the amount they received last year, but in the following years, the states which now spend more than the national average per child from their local and state funds would lose money. HEW statistics indicate that under this formula, Ohio will get more money for the education of disadvantaged, going from $46.5 million in fiscal 73 to $49.9 million in fiscal 75.

After the state allotment has been determined, the money would be distributed in such a way that areas with a high concentration of disadvantaged students — with the highest poverty ranking — would receive funds first. In addition, no school district receiving less than $10,000 in Federal aid would receive an allocation, and the whole proposal would eliminate approximately one million students from the 6.1 million disadvantaged now served under Title I. The "strings" attached to this provision would also require that 75 percent of the money allocated for disadvantaged students must be spent on reading and mathematics.

Of the other categories, I am particularly concerned that the quality of vocational education, education of the handicapped and special services is not diminished by special revenue sharing changes. All three would be combined into one allocation for each state. While 43 per cent of the total allocation would be for vocational education, and 16 per cent would go to the handicapped, up to 30 per cent of these amounts could be switched to any other category except impact aid. I would have to be assured that the Sixth District of Ohio schools — where the vocational money is particularly needed — would not get lost in the shuffle for these funds.

There is very little question but that these revenue sharing proposals face an uphill battle in the Congress and that time is running out for the current programs. Whatever the shortcomings of the latter, however, I do not believe the existing laws should be allowed to expire if the differences cannot be resolved for the losers in the battle would be neither the Congress nor the Administration, but the school children of America.

HOMEMADE SYRUP—Success smelled sweet to Mrs. Susan Spangler's and Mrs. Mae Huggins' combined fifth grade classes at Pickaway School. The students recently enjoyed a breakfast of pancakes sweetened by maple syrup as a class project. Under the guidance of Elbert Rawlins, custodian, a sugar maple tree in the schoolyard was tapped and sap was collected every morning for two and one-half weeks. This was boiled into syrup each day and saved until there was enough to serve 50 hungry, anticipating fifth graders.

EPA Orders Washington C.H. To Improve Sewage Facilities

The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency has ordered the city of Washington Court House to establish methods for disposing of their waste sludge, eliminating overflows and bypasses from their sanitary sewers and methods to improve their wastewater treatment facilities to meet applicable water quality standards.

The orders accompanied a water discharge permit which expires March 15, 1974.

The Ohio EPA is requesting the city to immediately establish temporary waste sludge disposal facilities and submit a report indicating completion by June 1, 1973.

The city must also submit to the Ohio EPA for its approval, a comprehensive engineering study and schedule that will eliminate overflows and bypasses of wastewater from sanitary and combined sewers. At the present time, the city has combined storm and sanitary sewers that result in the bypassing of raw sewage into Paint Creek.

By March 1, 1974 the city must submit for approval a report and general plan of the necessary sewage and wastewater treatment facilities required to meet applicable effluent and water quality standards. The detailed plans of the facilities must be submitted by January 1, 1975 and construction completed by January 1, 1977.

The city must also provide optimum operation and maintenance of their present facilities, submit monthly operating reports to the Ohio EPA and immediately report to the Ohio EPA any sudden discharge of untreated or partially treated wastewater. Washington Court House must also adopt and enforce regulations or ordinances prohibiting roof drains, foundation drains and other clean water connections to sanitary sewers.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

The House this week approved the Equal Rights Amendment for women, by a vote of 56 to 40, and has sent it on to the Senate for their consideration. If approved by the Senate, Ohio would join 30 other states which so far have approved the proposed amendment to the United States Constitution.

In order for ratification to take place, 38 states must approve the amendment.

Three hours of debate preceded the House vote. The action on the floor was

Housing Needed For Play Cast

Housing accommodations for some 50 members of the company of "Tecumseh!" are needed by May 30.

Rehearsals for the new outdoor historical drama which will open in Ohio's new Sugarloaf Mountain Amphitheatre in Ross County begin June 1. Housing is needed by May 30 for a three month period.

Most of the people needing living quarters will be men, but some married couples, a few with children, will be involved with the production.

A housing committee has been established to accept listings from those who have available for rent for three months small houses, one or two bedroom apartments, mobile homes or other suitable accommodations in this area.

To list available housing, contact Mrs. Clark Will at 474-5230 in Circleville or Miss Rosemary Yager, 774-3013 in Chillicothe during the evening.

Woman Gets By Animal In Road But Wrecks Car

Linda K. Wolf, 23, 225 Long St., Ashville, suffered minor injuries when she lost control of her car on the Circleville-Lockbourne Road and demolished it after swerving to miss an animal in her path.

She was treated at Berger Hospital for left leg and hip injuries, a puncture wound to her left hand and abrasions.

Deputy Sheriff Donald Thompson said she was southbound on the Circleville-Lockbourne Road, south of the Ashville-St. Paul Road intersection 11:29 p.m. Sunday when she drove her 1972 model car to the right to miss an animal in the roadway.

The car stayed off the right side for 36 feet, crossed to the left side 71 feet, stayed off the left side 88 feet and came back to the paved surface, rolling completely over for 101 feet and coming to rest in the right ditch.

Boycott Of Meat Taken Seriously

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — Police in Lorain said they're looking for a man they believe has carried the meat price protest a bit too far.

Police said the manager of a local Ponderosa Steak House reported receiving several calls from a man who threatened to kill all the restaurant's employees because they were not observing the national meat boycott.

USO Names Ohioan Acting National Chief

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The United Service Organizations (USO) Inc., has named Michael E. Menster, 33, a native of Canton, Ohio, to be acting national executive director.

The appointment was announced Saturday night during a weekend banquet at the USO's annual National Council Meeting. The appointment is still subject to confirmation by the USO board.

aired nationally on a public broadcasting radio network.

If approved nationally, the ERA could strike down nearly 190 sections of Ohio law, which could be construed as discriminatory towards women.

Several other bills of note were passed and sent on to the Senate this week. One, H.B. 173, would prohibit alteration of bumper heights on motor vehicles by more than three inches. The bill is aimed at those rather weird looking cars we've all seen that have their rear ends jacked up several feet higher than the front end. In altering their automobiles the owners usually alter the center of gravity in the car and thus renders it unstable. Also, in collisions involving these cars often the gas tank is ruptured because it is exposed by the back being raised.

Over in the Senate a bill calling for state wide voter registration was passed this week.

The bill requires state wide registration before the November, 1973 election. Presently, there are 1,653 precincts in Ohio that do not require pre-registration before qualifying to vote.

There are 26 counties that do not require registration, and six counties that have only partial registration.

Copies of a new "Beautiful Ohio" travel directory are being made available to Ohioans and visitors for the purpose of tourism promotion.

Probe Explosion At Night Spot; Thought Dynamite

BOWLING GREEN, KY. (AP) — Investigation continued today into an explosion that tore a hole in the roof of the Main Office Lounge here Sunday night.

Police speculated the explosion, which caused an estimated $2,000 to the inside of the building alone, might have been caused by sticks of dynamite thrown from a passing car.

Police Chief Wayne Constant said it might be a "wild guess," but said it appeared that "someone who just passed by" had thrown one or two sticks of dynamite onto the roof.

No injuries were reported. The one-story brick night spot was unoccupied at the time of the blast.

POW Donates Crutches To AF Museum

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Along with the Sunday afternoon arrival of the last three freed prisoners of war to be returned to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base came a donation for the Air Force Museum at the base.

Capt. Keith H. Lewis, whose home of record is Mount Vernon, Ohio, had been given crutches by the North Vietnamese. Lewis has a torn cartilage in one knee and he walked with a noticeable limp, but without assistance during a brief layover at Wright-Patterson.

Ernie's temper began to simmer when he was stopped by a police roadblock on his way home from work. Asked to show his driver's license, Ernie grudgingly complied. But the next day, he filed an "indignant citizen" suit to have the practice halted.

In a court hearing, he said: "Our streets are supposed to be free. What right do they have to stop me when I haven't broken any laws?"

However, the court ruled that the roadblock was legal.

"It is in the public interest," said the court, "that officers make periodic check-ups on the qualifications of those who operate motor vehicles on the highways. Constitutionally prescribed freedoms are not unbridled licenses to defy the orderly conduct of society."

Still, although police do have the power to check licenses, they must not abuse that power. In another case, officers had a hunch that a certain car was carrying contraband whiskey. Stopping the car ostensibly to check the driver's license, they found and seized the whiskey — in plain sight on the back seat.

But this evidence was eventually thrown out of court because of the way it had been obtained. The judge said the police had used their power to check licenses as a "mere subterfuge" to get around the restrictions on search and seizure.

In one unusual case, a motorist kept his license in a locked glove compartment. When an officer asked for it one day, he couldn't find the key — and finally had to pry open the lock.

The policeman gave him a citation on the ground that the license had not been "in his immediate possession."

But the court decided that it could not so rule as a matter of law. The court said that, since drivers' licenses have become such an important means of identification, keeping them safe in a locked glove compartment was "not abnormal."

Summer Camp Set For CHS Band

The Circleville High School Tiger Band, 160 members in all, will be attending band camp at Rio Grande College in August.

The camp, hosting the Circleville band from Aug. 5 to 11 this year, is fully chaperoned by college juniors and seniors who are music education majors.

The daily camp schedule consists of three meals in the Rio Grande College cafeteria; three marching rehearsals, two full band rehearsals, and a sectional practice with a specialist.

Bandsmen will have access of the college pool for relaxation and air conditioned rooms in the college dormitory.

Each band will have its own field instructor. This year, instructor will be available to help train drill corps.

Camp staff will work with Gary Dean, CHS music director, in teaching drills and marching techniques which will be used by the band throughout the 1973 marching season.

Blast Damages Store

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Police say an explosion, apparently caused by a bomb, shattered the windows and front door of a local Lawson grocery store early this morning.

He decided to forego the crutches and noted the museum could make better use of them.

Sixteen men landed here Sunday. However, only three stayed for processing. Lewis and 12 others went on to other processing stations.

The 16 men, smiling as they got off the C-141 Nightingale hospital plane, were greeted by a wet, but enthusiastic crowd of more than 500.

Lt. Col. William J. Breckner, Jr., of Columbus, Ohio, the senior man aboard the plane and the first to set foot again on the U.S. mainland, thanked the crowd—the largest turnout for such a homecoming at the base—for its warm welcome.

"We want you to know we feel the affection you have for us, and want you to know we have that same affection for you. I think it's going to be a great love affair," Lt. Col. Breckner said. "We join with you in a renewed faith in our God, our love for our country, and a special trust and confidence in our President and commander-in-chief," he concluded.

Breckner was followed from the C-141 by Capt. Michael H. LaBeau of Kincheloe AFB, Mich., and 1st Lt. Robert M. Hudson, also of Kincheloe, both of whom made brief statements and are staying on at Wright-Patterson.

All three were pronounced in excellent health following a brief examination by Wright-Patterson Medical Center doctors. They are scheduled to begin final medical exams and intelligence debriefings Wednesday afternoon. The three officers will stay with their families in visiting officers' quarters at the base.

The 13 other ex-POWs—11 Air Force and 2 Navy officers—flew on to Andrews AFB, Md., and Westover AFB, Mass., after an hour layover. The

Sunday Fires Destroy Barn, Mobile Home

Sheriff's Deputies were on the scene of two county fires Sunday, with extensive damage reported in both blazes.

Harrison Twp. Fire Chief R. E. Featheringham estimated loss at between $500 and 1,000 after fire swept through the Curtis Knapp family's mobile home in Gregory Trailer Court, Route 1, Ashville, about 8 a.m. Sunday.

Deputy Jim Deal said cause of the blaze was attributed to the Knapp's children, Curtis, 5, and Brian, 4, who were allegedly playing with matches.

The original fire was confined to the bedroom area, but firemen returned to the mobile home 9:45 a.m. when flames were spotted still burning in the ceiling.

Mt. Sterling fire department battled a barn and straw fire 1:23 p.m. Sunday on Dale Boyer's Raridle Road farm. Fireman attribute the blaze to lightning, but gave no loss estimate.

CBMC Sets Meeting

Richard Bailey will be the speaker at the Christian Business Men's Committee meeting 7 a.m. Saturday at the L-K Restaurant.

Navy officers' ultimate destinations were the Portsmouth, Va., and Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospitals. All, with the exceptions of Capt. Lewis, who went to Andrews AFB, and Air Force Lt. George F. Latella, who saluted welcoming officers with his left hand because of an unexplained injury to his right arm, seemed to be in good condition.

Nine former prisoners, all Air Force officers, who are finishing their out-processing at Wright-Patterson are set for departure news conferences later this week.

Col. Robert Sawhill Jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Capt. Glen Myers, of Penn Hills, Pa.; Major Joseph Shanahan of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Capt. Thomas Moe of Columbus, Ohio; and Capt. Mark J. Ruhling of Pittsburgh, Pa., are to meet news media representatives Tuesday. Capt. Michael Burns, of Warsaw, Ind.; Capt. Gerald L. Gerndt of Suring, Wis.; Capt. Richard C. Brennenman of Mishawaka, Ind.; and Lt. Col. Donald E. Odell of Mount Clemens, Mich., will hold their news conference Wednesday.

Muhammad Ali Dream Fades With Broken Jaw, Match Loss

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The $10-million dream, which ended with an explosion for Joe Frazier, faded quietly for Muhammad Ali.

His voice quieted by a broken jaw and his manner subdued after 12 rounds with a younger, stronger foe, Ali stood in his corner Saturday and heard what he probably had guessed: he had lost, amazingly to Ken Norton by a split decision.

A few months ago, before Frazier walked into several of George Foreman haymakers in Jamaica, a Frazier-Ali rematch loomed that would outdraw their "Fight of the Century" and give Ali the chance to erase the only blot on his record and retire as champion.

Instead, the previously anonymous Norton, 28, now is the logical challenger to Foreman, while the future of the 31-year-old Ali is in doubt.

The broken jaw "shouldn't hamper his career," Dr. William Lundeen, the supervising ring physician, said after a 1½-hour operation Saturday night.

But Norton's trainer, Eddie Futch, when asked about a rematch with Ali, said: "Sure, if the money's right. But right now we don't need him."

Ali's trainer, Angelo Dundee, said

Walton And Ratleff Head All-Americans

NEW YORK (AP) — UCLA's Bill Walton and Ed Ratleff of Long Beach State led the balloting for the annual National Basketball Association College All-America Team for 1972-73 in coaches' selections announced today.

The first team also included Doug Collins of Illinois State, David Thompson of North Carolina State and Jim Brewer of Minnesota.

The second team included Ernie DiGregorio of Providence, Ron Behagen of Minnesota, Mike Green of Louisiana Tech, Dwight Lamar of Southwestern Louisiana and John Brown of Missouri.

Sunday that the boxer would be hospitalized "for two or three days" for the operation to wire his left jaw bone which was broken three-quarters of an inch apart.

Dundee said, "From all indications, he's going to be fine." He said "We've already talked and he asked how long it might be before he can get back in training."

Ali, who had won 10 straight since losing to Frazier, was a 5-1 favorite over Norton, whose 30 victims in 31 fights were even more obscure. But Norton helped even the odds by starting a rigorous training program Feb. 22 while Ali trained lightly until the final week.

Ali, who lost for the second time in 43 fights, earned $210,000 to Norton's $50,000.

Ali's jaw was broken early in the fight. Dundee, said it happened in the first round, though Norton didn't appear to land a solid blow in the round. Futch thinks it was in the fourth round.

Sunday Bad Day For Hurlers

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Writer

Some of baseball's better pitchers tuned up Sunday for the approaching opening of the season but most were off-key.

Item: The San Francisco Giants rapped Oakland's Vida Blue for seven runs on 10 hits—including two triples and four doubles—in five innings en route to a 10-9 exhibition victory over the A's.

Item: The Milwaukee Brewers pounded Chicago ace Ferguson Jenkins for five runs in six innings and continued their 16-hit assault on Larry Gura for an 8-4 triumph over the Cubs.

Item: The Texas Rangers teed off on Kansas City's Dick Drago for seven runs and nine hits in four innings and held off the Royals 8-6.

Item: New York's Tom Seaver was supposed to go seven innings but was tagged for three runs and left after four innings because of a chewed-up mound in the Mets' 13-inning 43 victory over the New York Yankees.

Item: Pittsburgh's Nelson Briles shut out Cincinnati for four innings but Larry Stahl pinch hit a fifth-inning homer and, after a walk to Joe Morgan, Johnny Bench also connected as the Reds beat the Pirates 4-1.

Some others pitched well, but were simply outdueled.

Item: Ernie McAnally hurled eight innings of four-hit ball as the Montreal Expos blanked the Philadelphia Phillies and Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton 3-0.

Item: Bob Gibson of St. Louis faltered in the second inning against three light hitters—Eddie Leon walked, rival pitcher Stan Bahnsen doubled and Buddy Bradford singled them both home—as the Chicago White Sox downed the Cardinals 2-0.

However, California's Nolan Ryan, Minnesota's Bill Hands and Cleveland's Steve Dunning came through for the pitchers' union.

Item: Ryan, who won 19 games last year and led the majors in strikeouts, allowed only two singles as the Angels nipped the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1.

Item: Hands, acquired from the Cubs in a winter deal, gave up one run in seven innings as the Twins edged the Houston Astros 3-2.

Item: Dunning scattered four singles in six innings as the Indians blanked the San Diego Padres 2-0.

Don Gullett On Mound For Cincinnati Opener

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Don Gullett, the young lefthander who has drawn the prestigious opening day pitching assignment for the Cincinnati Reds Thursday, readily admits he has a lot to be thankful for.

Gullett, who's only 22, but is entering his fourth season with Cincinnati, will face the San Francisco Giants and Juan Marichal in the traditional opener before a sellout crowd in the Reds' Riverfront Stadium.

"Things, good things, have just kept happening for me," said Gullett, who battled hepatitis all last season while winning nine and losing 10.

"I guess all I can do is hope better and better things continue to happen."

The good things started happening for Gullett in 1970 when, with just one year of professional experience, he jumped from Cincinnati's Sioux Falls Class A farm team to the major leagues and recorded a 5-2 record while helping the Reds to a National League pennant.

At 19, he found himself pitching in a World Series.

The next season, while the Reds were falling apart, Gullett won 16 and lost 6. Then came 1972 and his sickness.

But last year had a bright side—another pennant and a World Series.

"I'm just 22, and already I've been in two playoffs and two World Series. Now I'm going to get to pitch on opening day," Gullett said.

As could be expected, Gullett accepts the opening day assignment as an honor and also as a challenge.

"You want to get off to a good start," he said. "You want to be 1-0 and you want the team to be 1-0."

The butterflies that accompany any opening day will be there, of course, but Gullett's nature is such that they won't be apparent on the surface.

"I try to keep my emotions from showing," the Lynn, Ky., native said. "I'll be nervous, but that's not too bad. There's a difference between being nervous and being scared."

"I've been around enough that I won't get scared."

Pearson Wins Atlanta 500

ATLANTA (AP) — David Pearson and Cale Yarborough are graduates of sorts of the Wood Brothers school of stock car racing.

Yarborough completed his driving course cum laude in 1970 after winning nine superspeedway events for the famed car-building family from Stuart, Va.

Pearson, 38, last December and proud of the grey in his otherwise coal black hair, stepped to the head of the class after Yarborough's departure and now has tacked eight big ones to the Woods lengthening list of major triumphs.

The latest came Sunday at Atlanta International Raceway when Pearson outdueled alumnus Yarborough to win the $111,225 Atlanta 500 that drew a surprising 72,000 persons to wet and muddy grounds.

A driving, bumper-to-bumper finish appeared in prospect until Yarborough's Chevrolet wilted under the pressure and began overheating with 65 miles to go.

Pearson, who now has won his last two starts, led 157 of the 328 laps in posting an average speed of 139.391 miles per hour. Yarborough, who won three straight Atlanta 500s for the Wood Brothers beginning in 1968, paced the field 153 laps.

Dave Wottle Wins

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — Olympic gold-medalist Dave Wottle won the 880-yard dash in 1:57.2 and anchored the winning mile relay team to help Bowling Green post a 117-32 track victory over Toledo Saturday.

Teammate Dave Fegley took first place in the 120-yard high hurdles and the 440-yard intermediate hurdles, as the Falcons captured 14 of 18 events.

There were two other leaders. Richard Petty, stock car racing's only $1 million winner, though Pearson is creeping up on that mark, was in front only two occasions for 13 laps early in the race.

But the engine in Petty's Dodge exploded shortly before the halfway point, carrying him into the first turn wall. Buddy Baker rammed into Petty with his Dodge and suffered body damage that slowed him down the rest of the race.

Bobby Isaac, whose Ford was equipped with a 351-cubic inch engine, smallest in the field, was the leader for six laps but was no match for Pearson and Yarborough. He wound up second, two laps behind at the finish.

Third place went to Benny Parsons in a Chevrolet. Baker claimed fourth and Yarborough fifth.

Greensboro Open Finale Set Today

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Most of pro golf's leading lights aren't overly concerned about a one-day delay in getting to Augusta, Ga., for the start of the famed Masters Tournament on Thursday.

"I don't think it makes any difference at all," said Billy Casper. "You'll still be able to play a couple of practice rounds and that's all you need."

Graham and Casper shared the lead at 199, a whopping 14 under par, going into today's rain-delayed final round in the $210,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

The Greensboro finish was pushed back one day by a series of rains that have deluged this area and turned the 7,021-yard, par-71 Sedgefield Country Club course into a quagmire.

Saturday's play was washed out by a 1½-inch rain. A double round of 36 holes was scheduled Sunday but the course was unplayable—with much of it under water—for the morning round and only the afternoon half was played.

That forced a Monday windup and delayed most of the players' travel plans for Augusta by a day.

Chi Chi Rodriguez was alone in third after a 67 for 201. Doug Sanders, 69, and Rod Funseth, 68, followed at 202 with 60-year-old Sam Snead, Mike Hill and Canadian George Knudson grouped at 203.

CMBA Names Winners In City Tourney

Dannie Hettinger and Noel Crawford captured the doubles, Lynn Tracy the singles and George Runkle the all-events in the seventh annual Circleville Men's Bowling Association City Tournament at Prairie Lanes.

Hettinger and Crawford rolled 1,317 to take the doubles. Glen Hunter and Hobart Kaiser were second with 1,305. Hunter and Kaiser tallied 1,221 to win the scratch doubles.

Tracy was tops in the singles with 741. John Musselman was second with 713 and won the scratch singles with 659.

Runkle's 1,896 pins took the all-events. Ronald Cain rolled 1,881 for second and Bill Hammond won the scratch all events with 1,798.

The awards and prize money will be given out at the annual meeting and Awards Night 7 p.m. April 13 at Prairie Lanes. All members of the association are invited to attend.

Betsy Cullen Winner Of LPGA Tournament

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Cautious playing Betsy Cullen, who saw a seven-stroke lead disappear in the final round of the Alamo Ladies Open Sunday at Woodlake Golf Club, staged a rally to claim the title.

The blue-eyed blonde from Tulsa, Okla., finished with a three-over-par 76 to go with earlier rounds of 69 and 73 for a one-under par 218 total.

George Snider Wins

ROSSBURG, Ohio (AP) — George Snider of Bakersfield, Calif., won the 40 lap United States Auto Club feature race Sunday at Eldora Speedway and Sam Sessions of Nashville, Mich., took the 12-lap semi-feature.

The main feature was stopped early when Billy Cassella of Weirton, W. Va., went into the guardrail on the No. 2 turn and flipped twice. Cassella was not injured.

Brewer Wins Award; East Loses Tilt

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Jim Brewer had just scored 19 points, grabbed 14 rebounds, blocked five shots and stole the basketball a couple of times.

To his surprise, the 6-foot-9 Minnesota Olympian was named the Star of Stars, even though the East lost to the West 98-94 Saturday in the Coaches' All-Star Game.

"I felt somebody on the winning side would get the award," Brewer said.

"I was just trying to do what I know best, rebound at both ends and play defense. I didn't try to score that much," he said.

Brewer, who averaged only 14 points for the Gophers this season, scored all of his points in the second half, nearly leading the East to a successful comeback.

Brigham Young Athletic Director Stan Watts, the West's coach, thought his team's bench was the difference.

"When we put that second five in midway in the first half, we got to shooting better," said Watts.

The West, with seven players in double figures, pulled away to a 53-38 halftime lead and then withstood an East rally in the last seconds, ending a fourgame victory streak for the East.

Adolph Rupp, the retired Kentucky mentor who guided the East, blamed himself for the defeat that left the East with a 7-4 series edge.

"I made a mistake trying to give the players equal playing time," he drawled. "I'll never do that again. Some of those boys should have played the whole game. Some of the others should have just watched the whole game."

Dick Freeman Speeds To West Chester Win

WEST CHESTER, Ohio (AP) — Dick Freeman overtook Don Wilbur on the final turn to win the 30-lap $1,000 late model stock car race Sunday at TriCounty Speedway.

Wilbur, driving a Monte Carlo, led for 29 laps. Freeman moved to second place in the 20th lap in his 1966 Mercury on the final turn by going low on the bank and into the lead.

Bruce Worrell, 1972 Chevelle, was third, and Jim Cushman, in a 1973 Pontiac, was fourth in a field of 36 entries.

Brandt Challenges Party To Showdown On Leadership

BONN (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt is challenging a faction of militant young socialists to quit the Social Democratic party, and a showdown may come at the party convention next week.

With relations between the United States and West Germany a major issue, Brandt continues to take a tough line against the young radicals a fortnight after threatening to resign if the convention opening April 10 in Hannover adopts resolutions put forward by the militants.

In an interview released by his party Sunday, Brandt told the magazine Der Spiegel "whoever follows the program of the Communists should go."

Last week 30 members of the ultra-leftist Stamokap group quit the Frankfurt branch of the Social Democrats, charging that the party's youth wing, the Young Socialists, were not pushing hard enough for the eventual "dictatorship of the proletariat."

Stamokap is an acronym for "State Monopolist Capitalism," and 21 of the defectors announced they would join the Communist party.

The Young Socialists are themselves far enough left to worry Brandt and his associates in the party leadership. It was their adoption of an anti-American, Marxist-leaning platform at a congress last month that caused Brandt to threaten to resign as party chairman if any such resolutions were pushed through the Hannover convention.

The Young Socialists and other left-wing Socialists are critical of Brandt's efforts to transform the former workers' party into a moderate party with appeal to a broader range of voters.

The Young Socialist platform adopted last month also called on the government to stop its payments to the United States to reduce the cost of the 200,000 American troops in West Germany. Brandt and his associates fear this may strengthen the moves on both sides of the Atlantic for withdrawal of American troops from Europe.

Steve Dunning Slated For Tribe Rotation

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians won't need a fourth starting pitcher in the first two weeks of the season, but when a four-man rotation is needed, Steve Dunning will get the job.

Dunning earned the last spot in the rotation Sunday with a four-hit, no-run performance in six innings of work during a 2-0 Cleveland exhibition victory over the San Diego Padres.

West Highland Terrier Wins Dog Show Award

CHICAGO (AP)—A five-year-old West Highland Terrier, Ch. Purston Pinnmoney Pedler, an English import, won the best in show Sunday at the 33rd International Kennel Club show at the Chicago stockyards.

Pedler, owned by Mrs. B. G. Frame, of Indianapolis, Indiana, became the first Westy to ever capture the Chicago dog award.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — The 51st annual convention of the National Association of Broadcasters has signed off, leaving the industry to worry about topless matters amid hope for good legislative news.

"Topless" radio talk shows that treat sexual matters lightly and with a leer emerged as a major concern for the NAB leadership at last week's convention in Washington, D.C.

On the positive side, the conventioners decamped for home with optimism Congress will revise the Federal Communications Act to extend the three-year period that broadcast licenses now can be held and tighten the rules of competition for them at license renewal time.

The hope and worry are at particularly high levels this year because NAB is making a concerted effort to get Congress to lengthen broadcast licenses to five years.

Virtually all the 83 broadcast license bills now before Congress specify this period, according to a spokesman for NAB, which represents 3,620 radio and 534 TV stations, in addition to the four radio and three television networks in the United States.

It's a powerful group, but it moved briskly last Tuesday when the FCC said it was starting a "nonpublic" inquiry into alleged cases of broadcast obscenity.

By nightfall, the NAB's board of directors unanimously had adopted a resolution that in effect seeks to persuade NAB members and the entire industry to tone down or throw out spicy broadcasting that is causing heavy public and congressional gripes at a critical time.

FCC chairman Dean Burch hammered home the point the next day in a speech to the NAB's closing session. He assailed topless radio as "prurient trash," "electronic voyeurism" and "garbage, pure and simple."

He urged the industry to put pressure on tasteless broadcasters and praised the NAB resolution as a good start.

Ironically, despite all the congressional clamor over what many listeners say is obscenity or indecency, in topless radio, such programs aren't exactly rampant in America. There are about 12 on the air today, according to "Broadcasting," an industry magazine.

The public complaints haven't excluded television. The FCC this year has gotten hundreds of letters complaining about "X-rated movies on the tube," even though the three networks insist they've never broadcast any nor do they plan to.

With all the clamor about topless radio and X-rated movies, though, isn't there a possibility Congress will write restrictive program content standards into any broadcast bills it may pass?

"Not if we pursue our own self-regulatory efforts in good faith," says NAB president Vincent T. Wasilewski. "I believe we will."

"I don't think the Congress has any desire to get into this area. They're looking for us to take care of our own problems."

Battles Under Way Across Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Government troops are reported fighting their first major offensive operation in 15 months, but other units closer to the capital have fled under Communist pressure.

Field reports said Communist forces drove the government soldiers from Prasat Nsang Khmau, 33 miles south of Phnom Penh. The reports said 50 government soldiers were killed and 80 wounded in the battle Saturday before they reached the town of Chambak, four miles away.

Another government garrison about 15 miles southeast of Chambak was hit by about 1,100 rounds of mortar fire Saturday, and those troops also rushed to Chambak, according to the reports.

As they fled, the reports said, the government soldiers were pursued by two American armored personnel carriers captured by the Communists. The evacuating troops left behind five 105mm howitzers, six mortars and eight trucks loaded with ammunition.

The new offensive by the Cambodian government is against Khmer Rouge guerrillas holding Mt. Kirirom, 60 miles southwest of Phnom Penh. The campaign has not been announced by the military command, but the army newspaper The Resistance said in its Sunday edition the operation got underway March 25.

This report said the government force had captured several positions at the foot of the mountain, but the Communist rebels remained well entrenched on the mountain's summit.

It was the first time the Cambodian army has gone on the offensive since December, 1971, when it tried to open the highway from Phnom Penh to the provincial capital of Kompong Thom, 80 miles to the north. That drive failed and government casualties were heavy.

American bombers kept up their pounding of Communist positions in Cambodia. The U.S. Pacific Military Command in Honolulu reported B52 heavy bombers and fighter-bombers carried out raids Sunday at about the same intensity as those of past weeks.

Surprise, Surprise

SLOUGH, England (AP) — Together with his local property tax bill, a Berkshire resident was sent a leaflet from his local crime prevention unit suggesting ways of avoiding burglaries. Heading the list of things he should not do before going on holiday was: "Do not tell thieves."

Mrs. Hildenbrand Reelected President Of Health Board

Mrs. William Hildenbrand and Dr. Paul Fenstermaker were reelected to their present positions as president and vice president of the Pickaway County Board of Health during the March meeting of the board.

Dr. Frank R. Moore was reinstated as part time Health Commissioner by board members who include Charles McCray, Norman Godden and Richard Christensen. Christensen was recently reappointed to a second term on the board by the Health Advisory Council.

Mrs. Helen Pickens and Mrs. Carlene Francis reported that they visited the George McDowell exchange school, Pickaway, Saltcreek, Ashville, Monroe, Washington, Derby, Walnut and Jackson schools during the month and administered 49 immunizations.

They also reported that nearly 15 per cent of school age children do not have immunizations required by the State of Ohio before entering school.

R. Thoburn Blaney, county sanitarian, told the board of progress being made by the steering committee for a multi-county solid waste disposal and collection system currently under study. He also discussed several health complaints received from the Williamsport area.

Problems arising from sewage permits were discussed by Hugh Barnhill, county environmentalist, who reported that he issued 14 permits in March.

The board announced that Blaney and Barnhill will attend the 27th Annual Education Conference of the Environmental Health Association April 17 and 18 in Columbus.

Recommendations of the Health Advisory Council were discussed by the board which noted that they will make every effort to hold their budget to the lowest level possible. Plans for a health levy were discussed, but board members agreed that they need full support of township trustees before considering the additional tax.

April meeting of the board is scheduled for 8 p.m. April 24 at the Health Department offices, 705 S. Court St.
